Collection Project Proposal

Advanced Web Projects

For my collection project I want to use the spotify API to creates a site that would make a visual collection of the albums that I save to my account on spotify. From what I can tell from the spotify API site I should be able to access my specific account and the music that I save and then from there be able to access things like song list, time, and artist bio. I would like the site to have tiled images of the album artwork that upon hover would reveal things like album name and artist and upon click would open up a modal that would allow you take a closer look at that albums attributes.
